Not illustrated. 1882 Excerpt: .carry them with him and put them in Loseby s charge? or should he leave them there? He half laughed at the ridiculous expedient to which Loseby s words had driven him, and looked at the two letters jocularly; but in the end he determined to take them. It would be as well to put them in old Loseby s hands. Heathcote volunteered to ride with him as he had done before. It was again a bright calm day, changed only in so far as November is different from October. There had been stormy weather in the meantime, and the trees were almost bare; but still it was fine and bright. Anne came out from the hall and stood on the steps to see them ride off. She gave them several commissions: to inquire at the bookseller s for the ball programmes, and to carry to the haberdasher s a note of something Mrs. Worth wanted. She kissed her hand to her father as he rode away, and his penitent heart gave him a prick. You would not think that was a girl that had just been cut off with a shilling, he said, half mournfully (as if it had been a painful necessity), and half with parental braggadocio, proud of her pluck and spirit. I thought you must have changed your mind, Heathcothe said. Mr. Mountford shook his head and said, No, worse luck. I have not changed my mind. This was the only expression...
